About us

ACM-DBIT chapter took birth in the year 2003 and is in its 17th year of enhancing Dbitians' lives by providing a platform to enjoy learning. Teknack is one of the amazing battlefields provided by ACM for students of not just DBIT but also of other colleges to boost up their creative skills and pump up their technical skills by amalgamating with newer ideas and facts to build up Games that give the players an experience that would last with them forever...

An act once done becomes a memory...But an action consciously done again and again makes an habit that upskills one's soul to being a better human. And one of the best ways to carve some good ideas into minds, especially of the young is through a game and keeping this in mind, Teknack has produced some value-enhancing games that give the player a chill down the spine.

Really good game! Well thought out!! But it's actually tough. The joystick to control the spaceman at the starting levels is too sensitive. But I wouldn't blame it on the game developers. It might be a problem with my phone display which also gets reflected in the levels where I have to collect coin...

It's an infinite playing game so make sure the levels have an up down difficulty. That is easy medium hard and back to easy medium hard so that u keeping players hooked 3. More interesting elements.. Simple but yet interactive 4. Better sounds. Make it more space oriented. It's more robotic 5. Make the bg scroll a bit.. 3 layered No 3D needed 6. Use Flashy colors

The arcade game strives to strike a balance between addictive and frustratingly amazing. Remember when Flappy Bird died and you'd get all too furious about it? Yeah, this is that but a lot more fun, with cool music and amazingly smooth gameplay that is rarely expected for a studio in its inception. The collectibles fall in place and make sure the gameplay isn't dry. I'd definitely recommend this to my friends to support the devs. Keep up the work and make more of these please.

Great game with a retro feel to it. Simple and lesser controls makes it much more easier to play. For an initial build lags are well contained and controls are fairly responsive. Just reduce the duration of play from when you lift your hand from screen.....because player still slides and that kinda makes it hard to make a judgement when to release your hand off the screen! Good luck for your next builds!
