Mayor Joe Hogsett Recognizes Geyer Fire as Certified Vendor of the Month

Certified minority & women-owned business enterprise selected in honor of Women's History Month

INDIANAPOLIS - On Friday, February 24, 2023, Mayor Joe Hogsett and Director David Fredricks of the Office of Minority and Women Business Development (OMWBD) awarded Geyer Fire as the Certified Vendor of the Month for March 2023.

"Geyer Fire has been offering their vital services to Indianapolis residents for more than a decade now, representing a commitment to our city and its safety," said Mayor Joe Hogsett. "And as a business with ties to the Indiana Latino Institute and the National Association of Women Business Owners, Geyer also represents a more diverse entrepreneurial landscape."

Founded in 2011, Geyer Fire is a certified minority and women-owned business enterprise (XBE) that specializes in installing, maintaining, testing, and inspecting fire systems for various industries. Geyer Fire has worked on notable projects at locations including Riley Hospital, Purdue University, Ivy Tech, and Indiana University. Rosemily Geyer, the president of Geyer Fire, is actively involved in her community, serving as a board member for organizations such as the Indiana Society of Healthcare Engineers (ISHE), the Fire Inspectors Association of Indiana, and the National Association of Women Business Owners.

"Geyer Fire appreciates the opportunity to be showcased by the Office of Minority & Women Business Development and the City of Indianapolis. We credit much of our growth to the connections we have made by participating in events hosted by OMWBD, proving the commitment the office has to growing XBE businesses in Indianapolis," said Rosemily Geyer. "We also greatly appreciate the commitment of the members of the community in making introductions and promoting Geyer Fire to others."

Geyer Fire was chosen for women's history month to highlight a successful women-owned business in a male-dominated industry.
