TOUR STRUCTURE

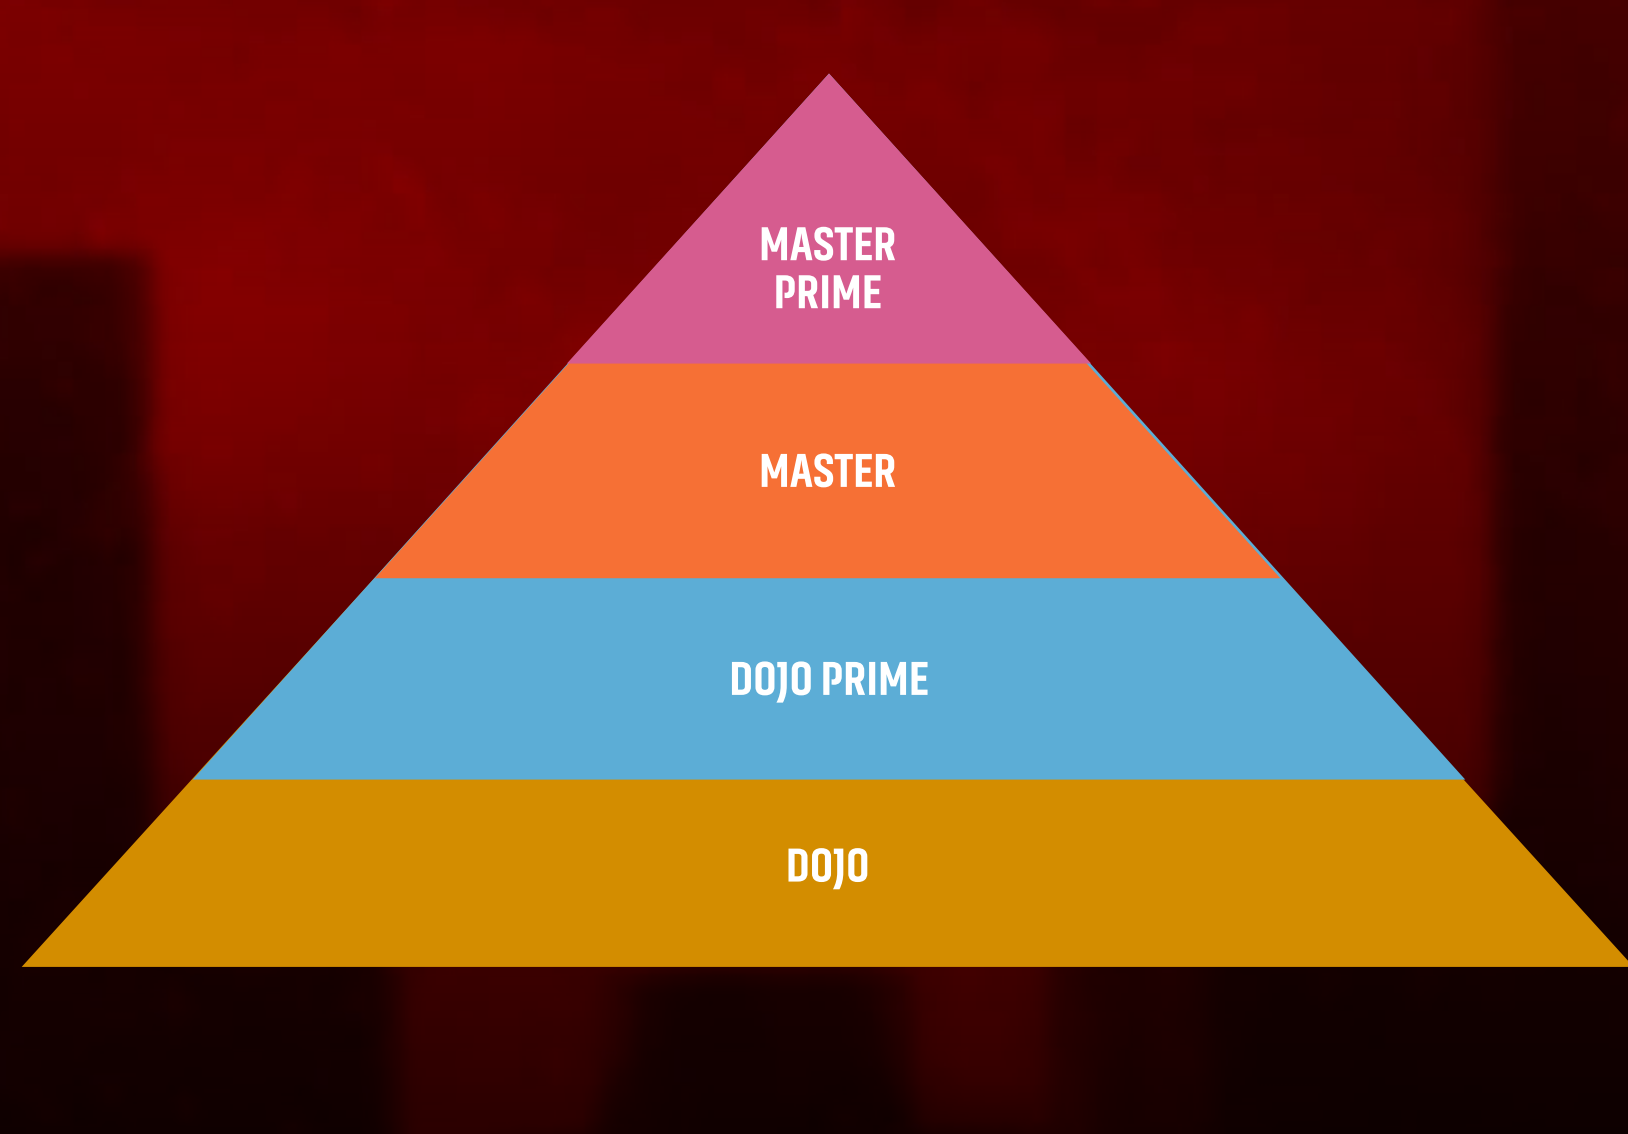

At a glance, you can see players will compete in various Master and Dojo events from June through October, with Regional Finals for designated regions taking place from late October through December. Then we'll have the Global Finals as an offline event in early 2023.

EVENT CATEGORIES

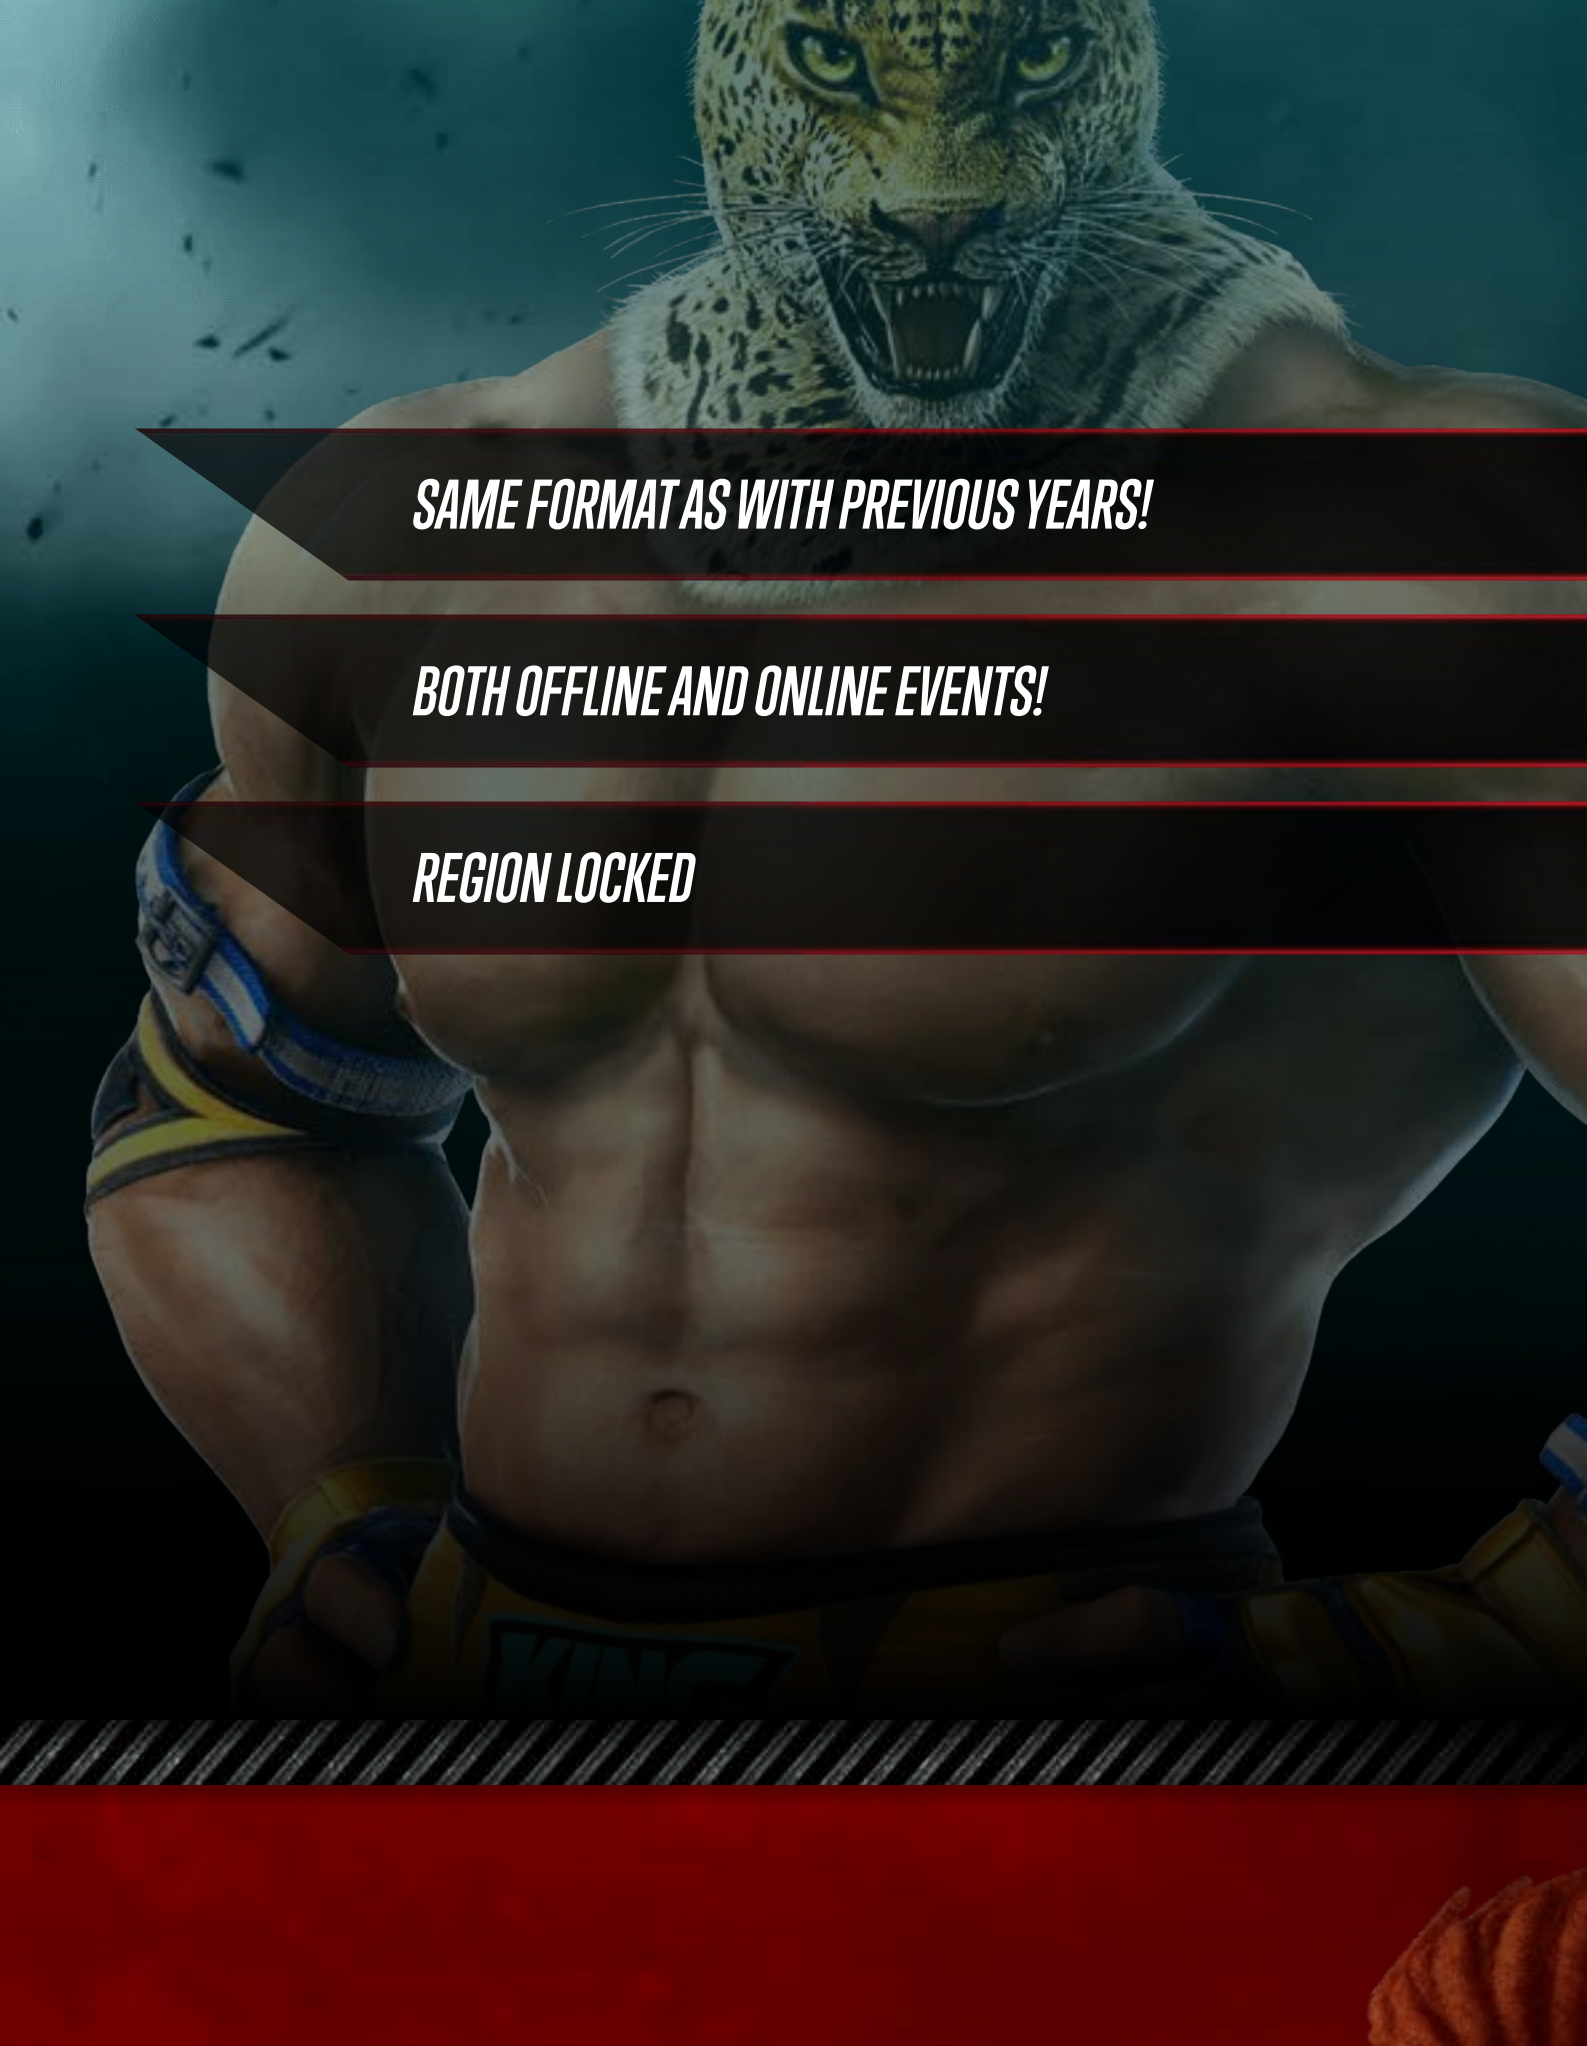

There are mainly two tiers of events this year - Dojo and Master. The top performing players in each region will advance to Regional, and then Global Finals. Some Regions may not have a Regional Final, in which case the top player in the leaderboard for that Region will be eligible to participate in the Global Finals.

DOJO EVENTS

Dojo events are mainly community organized offline or online events. This popular feature started with the TEKKEN World Tour, but has since been coopted by other games as well. The number of points received for top placers scales according to the overall number of entrants. More point categories this year with the addition of a 48+ category. To allow for your particular event to be part of the TEKKEN World Tour and have participants receive points, Tournament Organizers should apply for Dojo status through the Esports Tournament Portal.

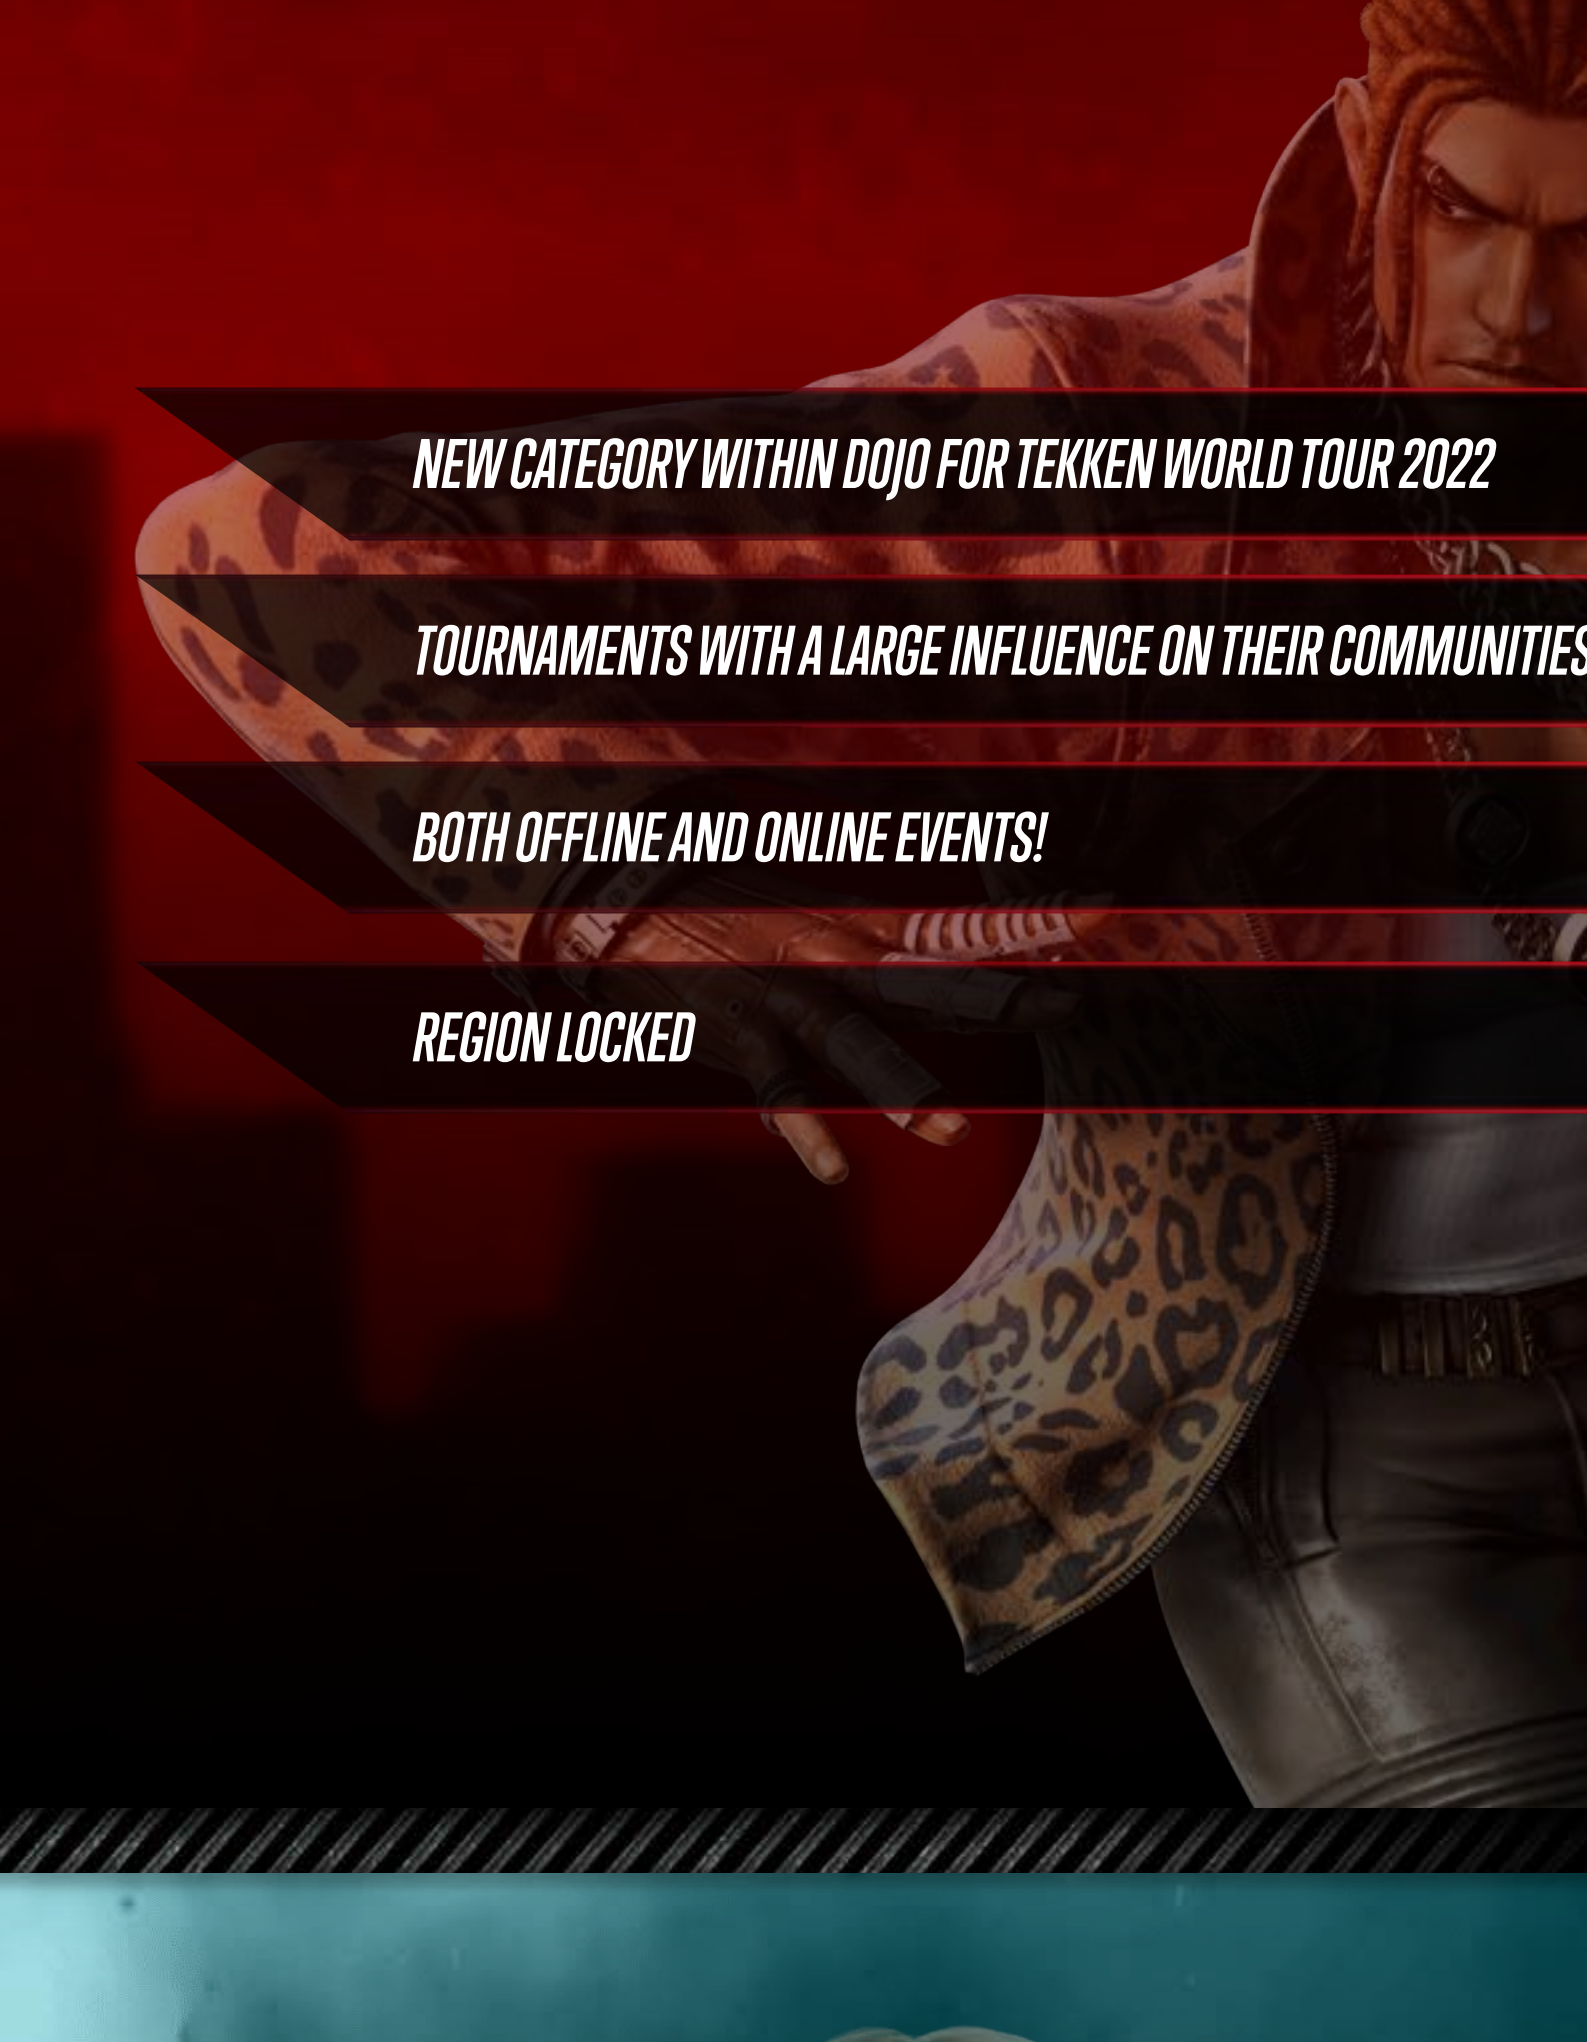

- SAME FORMAT AS WITH PREVIOUS YEARS!
- BOTH OFFLINE AND ONLINE EVENTS!
- REGION LOCKED

DOJO PRIME EVENTS

In addition to 96+ Dojo events, there is a new category called Dojo Prime. Dojo Prime events are outstanding local events that have a large influence on their local communities. Tournament Organizers who believe their event may fit the bill, can apply for this within their Dojo application, after which it will be reviewed by Bandai Namco Entertainment. To designate this special category, Dojo Prime events have a hefty amount of points. Substantially more than the 96+ Dojos.
